J. J. McKay-Memorial to Congress-Correspondence with the Hon. R. Strange-Congress refuses to make an Appropriation for a Hospital, to aid the Marine Hospital Association, or Ratify the Act of the Legislature of North Carolina.

Messrs. EDITORS: - We think it must be evident that we need and are entitled to a United States Marine Hospital, and now proceed to show the efforts, though ineffectual, which have been made to secure it. We do not know when the attention of Congress the United States, often leading to the postponement was first called to this subject, but as Wilmington and defeat of essential legislation, are strong arguwas made a port of entry in 1799, we suppose it was not long subsequent to that period, at any rate some time prior to 1817, inasmuch as during that year the Legislature of North Carolina, regarding the provisdisabled seamen" of our port "as insufficient for the be understood from the following abstract: purposes designed," and despairing of obtaining the necessary aid from the Government, rassed a law Sperm authorizing the collection of a small sum from paserection of a Marine Hospital at the port of Wilmington." This law was ratified by Congress, April 4, 1818, and continued in force five years. The amount collected under the act was paid over in 1835. according to a resolution of the Legislature, by the Treasurer of the State, to the Marine Hospital Association nation. of Wilmington, but being entirely inadequate for the object contemplated was judiciously invested, and will be appropriated when a practicable plan shall be adopted for establishing a Hospital or Pest House Bones and Joints, are speedily put to flight by using this great and inestimable remedy.

For all diseases of the Blood, nothing has yet been found organized and incorporated in 1835, and continued its efforts from that period until 1849. The President of the Association in a letter dated Treasury says, "recently this season, several coasting vessels arrived with cases of small pox, and other diseases which for the protection of the community, were quarantined on board of these vessels. where much suffering was experienced, and several deaths occurred. It is probable that this is the period referred to by gentlemen of unimpeachable veracity, when, as they state, "there were not enough of the well on board of the vessels to throw the dead overboard," and "one entire crew perished for want of accommodations on shore." He adds, "that the whole community have been aroused from the knowledge of great sufferings in the several cases alluded to, and a sufficient sum secured by private contributions to purchase a suitable situation, embracing 150 tions to purchase a suitable situation, embracing 150 duced by said States to a price not less than twenty-acres of land, with several valuable buildings for five cents per acre; and all lands that may have Maiden Lane, New York.

To this it was replied in a letter to the Hon. J. J. R. To this communication the Honorable Senator promptly answered stating "that on the ever, at the last session, and is therefore still upon the calendar to be acted upon—that he had no doubt of its passage, and that Gen. McKay and himself price fixed by the bill. would continue their attention to the subject, and that he sincerely hoped in some way to meet the wishes of the Association.

But the Government positively refused to extend aid in any way, notwithstanding that the Constitution of the Association. and the character of the Board of Managers afforded a sufficient guaranty for a judicious appropriation of any amount of funds which might have been placed at their disposal, for the benefit of " sick and disabled seamen." " And thus for the present," says the Record of the Association, "ends the hope so long and ardently desired of providing the funds necessary for a suitable hospital establishment. And thus the rights and interundersigned by said Carter for their benefit, will file copies of their claims with the subscriber immediately.

From the Washington Union of the 8th inst. The Public Lands-The Bill of Hon. Linn Boyd. The disposition and management of the public lands has always been a question of primary importance, and the greatest minds of our country have been directed to the subject for many years past. In view of the new order of things, and the necessity for improvements upon the old system, many projects have been introduced, and urged and advocated with much energy and talent. One of these plans has been repeatedly endorsed by the national House of Representatives - we allude, of course, to the celebrated homestead bill, so ably advocated for years past in Congress by Hon. Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee, and at the present session by Hon. John L. Dawson, of Pennsylvania. Other considerations plead strongly in favor of a radical change in our land system. The growing disposition to bestow these lands upon local objects, and the alarming consumption of the public time and money in the Congress o ments in favor of some uniform and impartial law

England's Declaration of War. [From the Supplement to the London Gazette, March 28,1

DECLARATION. It is with deep regret that her Majesty announces the failure of her anxious and protracted endeavors

The unprovoked aggression of the Emperor of Rus. with such disregard of consequences, that, after the rejection by the Emperor of Russia of terms which by a sense of what is due to the honor of her Crown, to the interest of her people, and to the independence nity and independence are assailed.

Her Majesty, in justification of the course she about to pursue, refers to the transactions in which

The Emperor of Russia had some cause of com. plaint against the Sultan with reference to the settle. ment, which his highness had sanctioned, of the conflicting claims of the Greek and Latin churches to a portion of the loly places of Jerusalem and its neighborhood. To the complaint of the Emperor of Russia bassador at Constantinople had the satisfaction of promoting an arrangement to which no exception was taken by the Russian government.

But, while the Russian government repeatedly assured the government of her Majesty that the mission of Prince Menschikoff to Constantinople was exclusively directed to the settlement of the question of the holy places at Jerusalem, Prince Menschikoff himself pressed upon the Porte other demands of a far more serious and important character, the nature of which in the first instance endeavored, as far as possible, to conceal from her Majesty's ambassador .they in regard to the passage of prohibitory law, still And these demands thus studiously concealed, affected in their relations to their sovereign the Sultan.

These demands were rejected by the spontaneous decision of the Sublime Porte. Two assurances had been given to her Majesty-would be of a conciliatory character. In both respects her Majesty's Just expectations were disappointed.

Demands were made which, in the opinion of the of Russia's authority for his own over a large portion of his subjects, and those demands were enforced by. a threat; and when her Majesty learnt that, on announcing the termination of his mission, Prince Menschikoff declared that the refusal of his demands would impose upon the imperial government the necessity of seeking a guarantee by its own power, her Majesty thought proper that her fleet should leave Malta, and, in co-operation with that of his Majesty, the Emperor of the French, take up its station in the neighborhood of the Dardanelles.

So long as the negotiation bore an amicable charor force. But when, in addition to the assemblage of large military forces on the frontier of Turkey. the ambassador of Russia intimated that serious consequences would ensue from the refusal of the Sultan to comply with unwarrantable demands, her Majesty deemed it right, in conjunction with the Emperor of the French, to give an unquestionable proof of her determination to support the sovereign rights of the Sultan. The Russian government has maintained that the determination of the Emperor to occupy the principalities was taken in consequence of the advance of Baron Brunow of the 20th of May, (1st of June,) which announced the determination of the Emperor of Russia to order his troops to occupy the principalities, if the Porte did not within a week comply with the demands of Russia. The despatch to her Majesty's ambassador at Constantinople, authorizing him, in a certain specified contingency, to send for the British fleet, was dated the 31st of May, and the order sent direct from England to her Majesty's admiral to proceed to the neighborhood of the Dardanelles was dated the 2d of June. The determination to occupy the principalities was, therefore, taken before the orders for the advance of the combined squadrons were given.

The Sultan's minister was informed that, unless he signed within a week, and without the change of a word, the note proposed to the Porte by Prince Menschikoff on the eye of his departure from Constantinople, the principalities of Moldavia and Wallachia would be occupied by Russian troops. The Sultan could not accede to so insulting a demand; but, when the actual occupation of the principalities took place, the Sultan did not, as he might have done in the exercise of his undoubted right, declare war, but adressed a protest to his allies.

Her Majesty, in conjunction with the sovereigns of Austria, France, and Prussia, has made various attempts to meet any just demands of the Emperor of Russia without affecting the dignity and independence of the Sultan; and, had it been the sole object of Russia to obtain security for the enjoyment by the Christian subjects of the Porte of their privileges and immunities, she would have found it in the offers that have been made by the Sultan. But, as that security was not offered in the shape of a special and separate stipulation with Russia, it was rejected. flames were arrested to the west.

The extensive Dry Goods establishment adjoining turned and cut the tree away. This was certainly a originally prepared at Fienna, and subsequently modified by the Porte, once by the proposal of bases large stock of goods, which we learn, however, is bability the lives of many persons, with perhaps the 31st of December, and approved at Vienna on the of negotiation agreed upon at Constantinople on the 13th of January, as offering to the two parties the means of arriving at an understanding in a becoming and honorable manner. It is thus manifest that a right for Russia to interfere in the ordinary relations of Turkish subjects to their sovereign, and not the happiness of Christian communities in Turkey, was the subject sought for by the Russian government. To such a demand the Sultan would not submit; and his highness, in selfdefence, declared war upon Russia, but her Majesty, nevertheless, in conjunction with her allies, has not ceased her endeavors to restore peace between the contending parties.

The time has, however, now arrived when the advice and remonstrances of the four powers having proved wholly ineffectual, and the military preparaions of Russia becoming daily more extended, it is but too obvious that the Emperor of Russia has entered upon a course of policy which, if unchecked, must lead to the destruction of the Ottoman empire. In this conjuncture her Majesty feels called upon, by regard for an ally, the integrity and independence of whose empire have been recognised as essential to the peace of Europe, by the sympathies of her people with right against wrong, by a desire to avert from her dominions most injurious consequences, and to save Europe from the preponderance of a power which has violated the faith of treaties, and defies the opinion of the civilized world, to take up arms, in connection with the Emperor of the French, for the defence of the Sultan.

Her Majesty is persuaded that in so acting she will have the cordial support of her people, and that the pretext of zeal for the Christian religion will be used in vain to cover an aggression undertaken in disregard of its holy precepts and of its pure and beneficent spirit.

Her Majesty humbly trusts that her efforts may be I have spoken of several matters which may concern successful, and that, by the blessing of Providence peace may be re-established on safe and solid foundations.

AN EXTRAORDINARY PASSAGE. - A monster screw steam ship, the Himalaya, has recently been built in England, and has just made a most extraordinary passage from Alexandria, Egypt, to Southampton, aca speed of 400 miles in twenty-four hours. The Himalaya was built on an experiment, and great doubts were expressed before she started on her first voyage from England as to the possibility of getting her in engines being so completely under the engineer's in neutral ships, on the 20th inst.: control that she is stopped and backed with the greatstate to you that since his lordship had the pleat

York. Now it happened that previous lecturers in that place had been rather awkwardly "introduced" to the audience, on account of the bashfulness and inexperience of the several officials who, each in turn, had undertaken the job, and had afterwards declined to act as usher, since the office was likely to bring them more chagrin than applause. In this emergency, the vice president offered his services-a selfconfident, well-spoken man, who, quite scorned the idea of anybody's "breaking down" on such an occasion. Now it should be mentioned that all the previous lecturers had been clergymen, and that Mr. Godwin, though a very worthy man, is not a preach er of the Gospel. But the vice-president, who in his confident self-assurance had not taken the trouble to ascertain with exactness the lecturer's "name and ain't it! - the Reverend God Park-Sir, (soto voce to cerns. the lecturer) what is your name?" "Park Godwin, Esquire." said the orator, with an emphasis on the title which was intended to negative the Rev. The introducer was now "posted," and finished his work by announcing in the happiest manner-" the Reverend Park Godwin, Esquire." Contented with his laurels, the vice-president soon after gave notice of his retirement from office. - Boston Post.

We occasionally meet with a paragraph in Whig papers asserting that the Free Suffrage bill was killed in the Legislature by a Democrat. Whoever makes this assertion is either fool or knave—a fool if he believes it, and a knave if he knows it is not so, as every man with any sense must know. The bill received and the results of which no man can tell; but which the vote of every Democratic member in the Senate, except the speaker, Mr. Edwards, who was not entitled to vote except in case of a tie. Of the 22 Whig members of the Senate, 16 voted against the bill, and only 5 for it. This brought it so that the Speaker could have voted and saved the bill, but it never would have been brought within his reach if it had not been well known by the Whigs that he would not vote for it We are well satisfied that a Whig caucus was held and five members detailed to vote for the bill so as to bring it within the casting vote of the Speaker with the intention of then charging its defeat upon the Democratic party. They were determined that the bill should be killed, but they wanted to shun the responsibility of its defeat. Their party rancor influenced them to destroy it, but they so dreaded an outraged people that they wanted to put the blame on since she commenced using the Tincture and she can now walk It is the lowest depth of political trickery to attempt to make the Democratic party responsible for the defeat of Free Suffrage. It is an attempt to deceive the people, and such a one as no man who regards truth or honor would make. This may be a strong expression, but facts justify it. The journals of the last Legislature do not show the name of a single Democrat recorded against the Free Suffrage bill, except that of Captain Hoke, of Lincoln, who once voted against it to enable him to move a reconsideration of the question, with the hope that it might at last triumph. While this is so, there are the names of 16 Whig Senators recorded against the bill, and about 30 Whig Commoners. This shows who defeated the measure.

HIP DISEASE—LAMENESS CURED!

HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE.

Read the following extract of a letter, dated Washington, March 19, 1854. Washington, March 19, 1854.

Messes. Mortimer & Mowbeau—Dear Sirs.—My little girl contracted lameness, and began to lean one side, during the early part of last Summer, but I thought it was from a habit she had acquired of standing on the left foot. Several persons teld me that it was hip disease, which I was unwilling to believe, until she became so crooked that I was quite alarmed. In September I took her to one of the best physicians in our city, who said that her spine was affected, and prescribed accordingly. The medicine being of no service to her, he then pronounced it hip disease, and said she would ruary, when I changed it for Hartshorn Liniment, which I used until the 18th.

Her sufferings becoming more acute, I returned again to the first-mentioned Liniment, but she still continued to grow worse, and could not move or be moved without the most invense suffering. I then bought a bottle of HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE, and on the third day after she had begun to use it she could straighten herself and stand up without support. The little creature was so overjoyed that she threw her hands over her head and exclaimed, "Oh see, Lean stand by rowerf?" see, I can stand by myself." She had not been able to stand as straight for two or three months before. It is one month as well as before taken sick. Respectfully, H. W. FRANKLAND,

Whichever way you turn, some immortal creation greet; your eye. Here you can linger profitably for hours conte.aplating the noblest of God's creation—man; here converse silently with the living and the dead, until the withered arm of memory seems again restored and strength ened, and reaches forth its hand to greet those with whom we were once intimately associated, but now inhabit the gloomy prison house of forgetfulness. Who would die with ut leaving so desirable a token of remembrance behind? Here beauty, with its diversity of expression and features, glows forth from the plate with rapturous divinity, and fas-cinates the eye, until the heart worships them, not like the imitable virginity Angels, the sainted Madonna, or the blue-bearded Magdalene, but as the unapproachable Daguer-reotypes of relatives and friends, made by Harrison.
